Blue Transition Policy Roadmap Towards Transparent, Responsible, Inclusive and Sustainable (TRIS) Development in the Mediterranean

Authors: Rym Ayadi and Carlo Sessa (in collaboration with EMNES Partners)

How did we get here?

Reference Scenario (BAU until 2010)
Inter Governmentalization of EU-MED relations through bilateral agreements among the EU Member States and MED-11 Countries

Un-sustainability: decrease total EU-MED Wealth

The Euro-Mediterranean Area Under Threats
Weakening and failure of cooperation schemes; regional conflicts in the Mediterranean

Blue Transition Concept

EU-MED Union (Integration)
Success

Sustainable Development of an Enlarged EU-MED Union
EU-MED Union: common market and frameworks of action on key topics (e.g. R&D, migrations, trade, energy, water)

Sustainability: increase total EU-MED Wealth

Sustainable Co-Development of EU & Med Sub-Regions
Differential multilateral agreements between EU and MED-11/Arab regions to enhance cooperation on key topics

Un-sustainability: decrease total EU-MED Wealth

Failure

Shaping the Future

TRIS development model

Transparent governance

Inclusive economy

Responsible living

Sustainable energy and environment

Global Context

- Globalisation
- Digitalisation
- Automation
- Global Pandemics: Covid-19
- Globotics
- Blockchain
- Pan-Industrialisation

Available for free downloading from the EMNES website www.emnes.org
©EMNES 2020 - Policygraphics
Stakeholders and public engagement in foreseeing “the future we want”

Who's it for?

Three Horizons Methodology

H1 Inertial scenario, where the system will stand in 2050 if current drivers and trends will continue unchanged

H3 Transformative scenario, how the system will look in 2050 if new emerging paradigms will become dominant

H2 Window of opportunity, what can be done until 2030 to adapt the best future outcome

Blue Transition Road Map
(based on 2050 scenarios and EMNES research)

Blue Transition Policy Roadmap applied on the socio economic pillars: institutions, STI, private sector, labour and trade

Defining the Blue Transition Scenario (BTS) for 2050

Looking to the future of the Mediterranean

- Dialogue across the different civilisations
- A common project – a Mediterranean partnership built on the inclusive society principle
- Regional strategies and shared action plans for TRIS development

The Blue Transition Scenario is a process-potentially never-ending

Blue Transition Fellows

Ready for the Blue Transition Mission!